

Announcements

- If you missed our quorum council topic in January, you might have missed that we've updated ministering routes!! Please look for an email and/or check the tools app for your current assignment.

Upcoming Calendar Highlights

- Apr 4/5 General Conference & Easter
- May 30 Pine Tree Day in the Temple

Recurring Activities:

- Tue/Thu @ 8:30 PM – Futsal
- Tue @ 3:00 PM – Pickleball
- 2nd Saturday each month, 10:30AM: Ward Temple Session

Monthly Message from our EQ President

Brothers, life moves quickly, and it can be easy for the quiet habits of scripture study and prayer to get crowded out by the pace of the day. Recently, I have been taking a small moment midday at my desk to read a scripture or two. It is not a long study session, but those few minutes bring a sense of peace and focus that I did not realize I was missing.

The scriptures have a way of resetting our perspective. Even a few verses can invite the Spirit and remind us what matters most. If your schedule feels full, consider finding a small moment somewhere in your day to pause, read, and pray. Those simple, quiet moments with the Lord can make a meaningful difference.

- Chris Welch

Upcoming EQ Lessons

 Date	 Instructor	Scheduled Topic
3/22	Jeff Morgan	The Power of Ministering to the One - Elder Peter Johnson
4/12	TBD	Taking on the Name of Christ - Elder Dale G. Renlund

	 Pine Tree Elders Quorum Newsletter The primary purposes of quorums are to serve others, build unity and brotherhood, and instruct one another in doctrines, principles, and duties
---	--

 Date	 Instructor	Scheduled Topic
4/26	Cary Griffin	Prophets of God - Andrea Munoz Spannaus

Preparedness Corner – March - Keep Your Eyes Open

As I've been thinking about emergency preparedness lately, I'm struck by how much we have to be grateful for. We live in a time when the resources to help us prepare for the unexpected are truly everywhere - from dedicated websites like the Church's providentliving.org and FEMA's ready.gov, to YouTube tutorials, community classes, and even social media. Preparation has never been more accessible.

Just this month, I came across some great storage bags on TikTok that I picked up for grab-and-go use - the kind of thing you can have packed and ready if you had to leave home quickly, or to just stuff with whatever you can as you're on your way out. It's a reminder that good preparedness ideas can come from anywhere, and that taking even one small step counts. This month, I'd encourage you to keep your eyes open. You may be surprised what you stumble across that helps move your family one step closer to being ready.

- Rick Woodruff

Temple and Family History

The ward has two simple goals for 2026 for Temple and Family History work.

- Find a name
- Serve and worship in the temple regularly. What regularly means is up to you.

There's no reporting, just encouragement to do the above.

Also, please try to reserve May 30 for the Pine Tree Ward Day in the Temple. There will be data gathering for what temple ordinances people want to participate in leading up to the day.

EQ Lesson 2/22 – And Now I See

Instructor: Brother Cary Griffin

Talk: Adorned with the Virtue of Temperance - Elder Ulisses Soares

“The Savior’s guidance, recorded in this sacred revelation, reminds us that temperance is an essential reinforcement for a firm foundation in Jesus Christ. It is one of the indispensable virtues, not only for those who have been called to serve but also for all who have made sacred covenants with the Lord and accept to follow Him faithfully.”

Cary led a great discussion on the idea of temperance. I think as we struggled to define it, we came to a greater understanding of this principle. Temperance is about balance in our lives; as we find that balance across all the roles and responsibilities we have, we can be more rooted, and have a firm foundation in Jesus Christ.

EQ Lesson 3/8 – Forsake Not Your Own Mercy

Instructors: Brother Cary Griffin

Talk: Forsake Not Your Own Mercy - Elder Matthew S. Holland

“A testimony of the Fall does not excuse sin or a lax approach in life’s duties, which always call for diligence, virtue, and accountability. But it should temper our frustrations when things just go wrong or we see a moral failing in a family member, friend, or leader. Too often things like this cause us to wallow in contentious criticism or resentment that robs our faith. But a firm testimony of the Fall can help us be more like God as described by Jonah, that is, “merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness” to all—including ourselves—in our unavoidably imperfect state.”

Cary led a discussion that focused on what we can learn from Jonah’s trial with the whale - among others. One of those learnings is a deeper understanding of Adam and Eve’s Fall. A testimony of the Fall is foundational to understanding the Atonement of Jesus Christ.